

Did You Know?

Did you know that sharing simple personal stories—such as your routines, feelings, or past experiences—can help you to learn English faster? When students connect new language to real-life situations, they remember vocabulary more easily and speak with greater confidence. This also strengthens their communication skills, which are important in daily conversations and basic negotiation. So, every time you talk about your day in English, you are improving your ability to communicate.

Referencia:
British Council (2022).

How to tell a story in English. Retrieved from: <https://learnenglish.britishcouncil.org>