Hope and Wish

We use hope to express that we desire something happens. With singular subjects hope ends in –s as other cases in Simple Present tense.

For example:

Subject + hope(s) + (Someone) + can/Simple Present verb + complement.

I hope I can pass all my exams.

I hope Gustavo can come to Saltillo.
Mom hopes I get excellent notes.

My cousins hope they can visit us this year.

Ivan hopes he gets the job.

He hopes Maria invites him to the party.

Everyone hopes it doesn't rain tomorrow.

Martha and Carlos hope the doctor tells them they will be parents.

Wish

We use wish to express we desire something were different.

For example:

Subject + wish(es) + (Someone) + Past Tense verb + complement.

Hope and Wish

I wish I won the lottery this year.

He wish*es* I were more organized.

They wish they didn't have a disobbedient dog.

He wish*es* you weren't so selfish.

People wish they had more job opportunities.

Anna wish*es* John stopped smoking.

Referencia:

Jeremy English, 2014,Free English Grammar Lesson How to use Hope and Wish.

Recuperated el 16 de enero de 2015 a partir de: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zQpr3Rrls_s